

Chamba Lane

Last Updated Monday, 29 May 2006

<http://www.kvmr.net/content/view/42/6/> Controversial issues from beyond the mainstream

Chamba Lane

Rabble Rousing - Wednesdays, 12:00 PM - 1:00 PM

Controversial topics ignored or avoided mainstream media, the government would rather you didn't know. Call-in.

Chamba Lane and

the dowager Mrs. Basset

Chamba's the one with the hat

Chamba Lane offers Rabble Rousing listeners, "interviews on controversial issues from a perspective which mainstream media and the government prefer you do not think."

For 12 years he hitch-hiked around the world so he can truthfully say "been there -seen that." His experience informed him that events he witnessed first-hand became something quite different by the time the mainstream media and government flak men turned them into sound bites for the evening news. From that unique perspective he observed "our government, education system and major media omitting, censoring and outright lying to us to further business/corporate/banking interests, not the will or interests of the people."

Most people throw up their hands, say "Everybody knows that, but whaddya gonna do?" and continue on in their mute approval of such injustice. Not Chamba. He utilizes the public forum of community radio to challenge listeners to consider the alternative viewpoint to the mainstream media then take action.

Chamba claims influences from Lenny Bruce, Noam Chomsky, Alfred E. Neuman and Joseph Heller's Catch-22. He's been broadcasting at KVMR since 1993 raising hackles and rousing the rabble to, "Follow the Constitution and take back our government!"

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty," said Thomas Jefferson and rousing the rabble to vigilance is Chamba Lane's calling.

Chamba still gets out into the world, especially to Peru where he offers a Power Places & Energy Sites Tour that visits the most important, still active sacred sites in the Andes, teaching you to feel the sacred earth energies in your own chakras & contacting your shaman within. Visit his Ancient Energy Journeys Tour Company website, or by e-mail at chamba@gotnet.net